

Howelsen Hill Tennis Courts Close August 9-13 Recent Top Surface Work Requires Additional Application

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, COLORADO-August 6, 2021-The Howelsen Hill Tennis Courts will need to close again next week starting Monday, August 9, and running through Friday, August 13 due to additional work on the top surface.

Coatings, Inc. out of Arvada was recently up in Steamboat Springs the week of July 26-30 performing repair work, which included filling and sanding existing cracks in the court surface, adding layers of adhesive fabric to prevent cracks from reforming, and applying paint to the top surface.

The week following the repairs, areas were identified where the paint/top surface applied did not adhere properly. The contractor will return to reapply and treat these areas.

“We apologize for the additional closure,” said Parks, Trails & Open Space Manager Craig Robinson. “However, we want to make sure it’s done correctly so the courts hold up to strong use and our ever-changing weather conditions.”

The work is expected to be completed by Friday, August 13 and the courts should be ready for play over the weekend.
